The English Government to Co-operate with the United States to Remedy Pauper Immigration Evils.

By Telegraph to The Times. LONDON, July 31 .- [Copyright, 1891, by the New York Associated Press.] Dillon's and O'Brien's repudiation of Parnell, though a foregone conclusion, has profoundly depressed the Parnell-ites. Parnell hoped until the last moment to again entangle them in maneuvres for a reunion. Their prompt and decisive declarations as soon as outside the prison doors, and Treasurer Wright charges that the their refusal to listen to any advances from the Parnellites, fell like a death blow upon the faction. Today Parnell telegraphed to his committee that defections on every side would the lists. In view of all these facts not make him alter his course the city treasurer puts some questions a hair's breadth. He proposes to the Auditor-General as to what he a hair's breadth. He proposes on Sunday to speak at Thurles, the strongest ecclesiastical center in Ireland. probably anew to hurl defiance at the bishops and prophesy his future triumphs. To fill up the gaps left in the committee by deserters another directorate is forming, aspiring to found a daily paper on the Parnell-pence principle. The Government Training Colleges Bill, which practically proposes to endow two large Catholic colleges in Dublin and one very minor Protestant college, has caused a revolt in the Conservative ranks. Balfour, however, skilfully resorted to a plan to provide capital for the colleges from funds at the disposal of the Irish education board. The bill, therefore, can be postponed.

BANKRUPT BISHLEADERS BANKRUPT IRISH LEADERS.

William O'Brien was finally adjudicated a bankrupt today at the instance of Lord Salisbury. He will come to London on Monday to try to arrange a conference with Parnell and McCarthy in regard to the Paris fund. McCarthy, at the instance of Parnell, already agrees to the withdrawal of £5000 to meet the legal expenditures incurred when the party was united. Whatever O'Brien's plan may be, there is small hope that Parnell will assent to the release of the fund unless he shall be permitted to control its disposal. His personal embarrassment does not appear to have been relieved by his marriage. He has made an extraordinary claim against Capt. O'Shea for £3600 advanced him between September 1889 and November 1890, partly during a period of the divorce proceed-

From the facts grouped together by Treasurer Wright it appears that glaring abuses have existed, especially in the collection of delinquent mercantile taxes. A Slight Difference between the Two A Slight Difference between the Two Departments. Yesterday afternoon Officer Rinkenbach discovered a fire in a lot of dry grass and lumber in the basement of the old Tenthstreet Hotel, and turned in an alarm. The engines promptly responded, but the flames were extinguished before their arrival, the Ninth-street engine being only half a block away. After the fire an incident occurred which at first threatened to cause trouble. Officer Rinkenbach asked Chief Moore for Officer Rinkenbach asked Chief Moore for his fire key, when Mr. Moore replied that he did not have it, at the same time telling the officer he ought to have a key. About this time some oue told Rinkenbach that Inspector Hogan had the key, and the officer started toward him to get it. Chief Moore, who was just riding off on a hose wagon, called to Hogan not to give up the key, but to put it in his pocket. This Hogan did, and when he refused to give it up, Rinkenbach promptly placed him under arrest and took him to the station, Chief Moore going along.

took him to the station, Chief Moore going along.

At the station explanations were in order and the matter was soon straightened out. Chief Moore said that he merely intended to turn the key over to the Chief and request him to instruct the men not to turn in an alarm when they could put out the fire without it. In this case it was a very small blaze and the officer could have notified the Ninth-street engine, which was only a block away, and not have had four apparatus chasing to the south end of the town when there was no necessity for it, leaving the other portions of the city unprotected for the time being.

Rinkenbach, on the other hand, said that he had first notified the Ninth-street engine, thinking they could handle the fire, but the fremen told him to turn in the alarm, and he did so.

HOW IT ACQUIRED CONTROL

Bank's Enterprises.

"Freeze-out"-The Stocks and Bonds of the Company Absorbed.

The Sacramento Bee of July 30 publishes the following statement concerning the Mohawk Canal enterprise.

The Mohawk Canal The developments concerning the standing and business methods of the People's Home Savings Bank of San Francisco, which has been under investigation by the bank commissioners, develops a chapter enneering which a number of Sacramento people are better informed than the bank commissioners are likely to be, unless they seek other inform than the bank commissioners are likely to be, unless they seek other inform thon than that liable to be given them by the bank officials.

The peculiar methods of the bank in transacting business, and the large investment of its funds in speculative enterprises, has created an enquiry, and resulted in a run upon the institution on Monday, which, in justice, it should be stated, the bank withstood. The fact that it is backed by the Pacific Bank gives it a stability which it might not otherwise possess.

Among the unusual transactions that created inquiry is the connection of the bank with the Mohawk Canai and Improvement Company of Arizona, in which several prominent citizens of Sacramento have been interested as stockholders and who now have heldigra store the lines of the Mohawk.

the early history of the canal company, farther than that it was organized in 1885. The original stockholders were unable to complete the enterprise, and the scheme passed into the hands of another organization, but this latter was not much more successful. Finally the comp.ny decided to issue $100,000 in bonds bearing 10 per cent. per annum interest end give 5000 of the 10,000 inches the canal was supposed to carry, and one-half the stock to any person or association that would advance means to complete the work. This offer was accepted by G. W. Norton and C. E. Spencer, who subsequently transferred them to the South Gila Company, which again transferred to the Pacific Bank, of which R. H. McDonald is president. When failure of the entire scheme was imminent through lack of funds, and the company was unable to pay the interest on the bonds, the Pacific Bank people surgested to the stockholders to the the pacific that it they would surrender all the outstanding stock to the bank, that institution would furnish the necessary funds to compete the enterprise, furnishing water to the standing stock to the bank, that institution would furnish the necessary funds to complete the enterprise, furnishing water to the settlers under the same conditions as those existing between them and the original company. This offer was gl dly accepted, as the stockholders in the company were only desirous of obtaining water for their loc tions, and had not expected a large revenue from the canal alone.

A NEW COMPANY TAKES IT. The stock was then surrendered to a company of which D. S. Dorn is president, Frank V. McDonald, treasurer; R. J. Davis. Frank V. McDonaid, treasurer; R. J. Davis, R. Secretary, and Isaac Rudsill, manager, and D. S. Dorn, J. C. Spencer, R. J. Davis, F. V. McDonaid and R. H. McDonaid are directors. Nearly all these gentlemen are interested in the Pacific Bank and in the People's Home Savings Bank.

The Pacific Bank turned over the bonds beld by it to liths awaying bank so that the

held by it to it he savings bank, so that the atter practically constitutes the Mohawk lanal Company and holds its own bonds

In speaking of these securities, F. V. McDonald has rated them as first-class and has assured the public that the comp. my is in a flourishing condition, and that interest will be paid upon the bonds as it falls due. It is at this point that the interest of Sacramentans is aroused in the matter, for they are of decidedly different opinion from that held by Mr. McDonald, both as to the prosperity of the company and of the probability that there will be enough income from the enterprise to pay the interest on the bonds. The affairs of the company have been so grossly mismanaged that the locaters of land along the line of the canal are so disgusted that while some will go so far as to pay for their water for the first year in order that they may prove up on their locations under the Desert Land Act, others will entirely abandon their locations and lose what money they have already put in. In speaking of these securities, F. V. Mc

Under the terms of the original company, and which the present company agreed to carry out, each stockholder was entitled to water for one acre of land upon the completion of the canal for each two and a half shares of stock taken. Each party purchasing a water right was under obligation to pay $1,25 per acre within one year from the date of the completion of the canal. This $1,25 per acre was payment in full for water for the first year, though the price might subsequently be increased to $2,50 per acre per annum as a maximum.

After the bank got hold of the property—entire control of which passed into its hands in October last—the estilers locked forward with pleasant anticipations to a speedy realization upon their investments, for letters had been written both by F. V. McDonald and D. S. Dorn, of the company, to gentlemen here, assuring them of the intentions of the company to deal fairly and liberally with all the locators in the valley, and to strictly carry out all the original conditions. But it was not long until evidences of a different policy became apparent. In the first place, the company, in its deed of twater rights, inserted a clause that a right-of-way seventy-five feet on leach side of the canal should be given by the holders of the loc tion; that the settlers should keep the floodgates in repair, and that the company should be released from any responsibility for failure to supply water.

The Company's promises.

gan to prove up, and made arrangements for improving their property. Among them was Lafayette Clark, wno proved up and prepared to set out fifty or sixty acres in vines and trées. But they found themselves hampered for water, and all the rootings set out have since died. And this, notwithstanding that there is plenty of water in the river, but the canal company does not furnish it. Another gentleman who deposited the money in bank in San Francisco for his water right, but who went down to prove up on his property without obtaining his deed, was refused by the manager the privilege of turning the water on the land until he produced the company's deed to the right, although the manager could not but be assured that it was no fault of the settler that the deed had not been lssued.

D. A. Lindley has spent several thousand doilars upon his holdings in one way or another, but finds himself so hampered by the actions of the company, both as to securing water and in obtaining his deeds to water rights, that he has stopped all improvements.

The year in which the first payment of $1.25 per acre is paid expires on Friday, next, the Sist inst. Many of those who do not wish to entirely abandon their claims are paying up and applying for their water deeds. This fact accounts for Mr. McDonald's statement that there is more money during the past week or two than during a similar period since the company's existence; but after securing their rights and proving up on the land, those claimant almost as a unit have decided to let their lands lie untouched until the management and policy of the company is changed.

prises, has created an enquiry, and resulted in a run upon the institution on Monday, which, in justice, it should be stated, the bank withstood. The fact that it is backed by the Pacific Bank gives it a stability which it might not otherwise possess.

Among the unusual transactions that created inquiry is the connection of the bank with the Mohawk Canai and Improvement. Company of Arizona, in which several prominent citizens of Sacramento have been interested as stockholders and who now have holdings along the line of the Mohawk Canai. It leads out from the Gila River some forty or fifty miles above its junction with the Colorado near Yuma, and is calculated to irrigate about 30,000 acres of rich soil, in a climate which is a kimost tropical and will produce early fruits weeks in advance of any other locality on the Pacific Coast.

HOW THE BANK OBTAINED IT.

It is not necessary to go into the details of the early history of the canai company, farther than that it was organized in 1885. The original stockholders were unable to complete the enterprise, and the scheme passed into the hands of another organization, but this latter was not much more successful. Finally the comp. ny decided to issue $100,000 in bonds bearing 10 per cent, passed into the hands of another organization, but this latter was not much more successful. Finally the comp ny decided to issue $100,000 in bonds bearing 10 per cent, passed into the chanai was supposed to carry, and one-half the stock to any person or association that would advance means to complete the work. This offer was accomplication to the Attorney-General of the company in the comp ny decided to its passed into the strip the company in the LAWSUITS THREATENED.

THE CANAL'S VALUE. The fact is that those who are well poster in the affairs of the canal and of its cos estimate that at an outside figure it is worth no more than $80,000, and if, as Mr. McDonaid said, the company is desirous of disposing of it, it will be lucky to get that amount according to the terms of the original agreement, the settlers are not compelled to take the water each year, and if they maintain their present determination to use no more water from the canal until the management inaugurates a more just and liberal policy, the future revenues of the company will be reduced to a very small figure. estimate that at an outside figure it is worth company will be reduced to a very small figure.

It is understood that the company itself owns land along the canal and that it is entitled to 5000 inches of water. It is a wide-spread opinion among the land-owners of the Mohawk Valley that the owners of the canal have systematically discouraged the holders of water-rights so that there might be as many forfeitures as possible. If this is so, it seems that they are meeting with a considerable degree of success, but in doing so they may possibly work a forfeiture of their own franchise,

A PROPOSITION TO SELL The manager of the canal, however, pre sumably with the consent of the company. has suggested to the settlers that they buy has suggested to the settlers that they buy the canal. But the latter are not disposed to consider the matter at all at the value placed upon it by the company. If the bonds can be secured at any from $50,000 to $70,000, with the understanding that only the interest is to be paid at present, the proposition may possibly receive some con-sideration.

Donaid has rated them as first-class and has assured the public that the company is in a flourishing condition, and that interest will be paid upon the bonds as it falls due. It is at this point that the interest of Sacramentans is aroused in the matter, for they are of deeldedly different opinion from that held by Mr. McDonaid, both as to the properity of the company and of the probability that there will be enough income from the enterprise to pay the interest on the bonds. The affairs of the company have been so grossly mismansged that the locaters of land along the line of the canal are so disgusted that while some will go so far as to pay for their water for the first year in order that they may prove up on their locations under the Desert Land Act, others will entirely abandon their locations and lose what money they have already put in.

Its departments in successful operation are the Medical College, on Aliso street, this city; the Maclay College of Theology, at San Fernando; the Chaffey College of Agriculture, at Ontario; the Escondido Seminary, at Escondido, and the College of Liberal Arts, at University Piace (of West Los Angeles.)

On examination of the year-book lately published, it is found that the College of Liberal Arts has a full college course, covering four years, equil to the average American college in all respects. Connected with the college is the seminary, whose course covers three years, and gives students a thorough preparation for entrance to college. The college has a fair-sized library, which has been well selected; in connection with this is a reading room, free to all students, supplied with leading quarterlies, monthiles and weeklies. The faculty compares favorably with the best institutions of learning in the country.

It will thus appear that this institution is prepared to furnish the best facilities to young men and women seeking an education. Catalogues and full information will be furnished free on application to Kev. W. S. Matthew, D. D., University Postofiice.

George Ruchert, the old German journalist who committed suicide in the Nadeau House Thursday morning, will probably never know what he missed unless the spirits of the departed have the power to look back across the dark river of death and keep a lookout on their late companions. The old man had bardly been made com fortable in his last bed when a couple from Santa Ana, who had known Ruchert in his lifetime, drove up to the morgue and asked if they were too late to attend the funeral. walked in, arm-in-arm, and as soon as they were given seats they buried their sunburst faces in solied handkerchiefs and wept bitterly.

The old man, who gained control of his feelings first, looked up at the big-hearted undertaker and with tears in his eyes announced in broken English that he and his wife had known poor George a number of years and they had come to town for the special purpose of taking him home with them.

"We knew," said the old man, "that George was living in Los Angeles, but we thought he was doing well until we received a letter from him yesterday, in which he stated that he was flat broke and discouraged. He said he could not secure work of any kind and did not know what would become of him.

"We were greatly distressed over this sad news, and as we are not poor we made up our minds to come after him and give him a good home the rest of his days; but we are too late. On our way to the city we planned a camping trip to the mountains for his benefit, as we could see from his letter that he was greatly distressed and we knew that a trip would cheer him up and make him happier than he has been for years. He was a mighty good man, and I always looked on him as one of the brightest German writers in the United States, but when he lost his wife, whom he loved to distraction, he lost all interest in life, and did not seem to care what became a rover on the face of the earth, and a few years ago he made his way to California."

The old couple were greatly affected over the loss of their old friend, and could hardly realize that he was no more. They took a trip to the cemetery and wept bitterly over his grave, when they got in their wagon and drove back to their Santa Anahome.

Ruchert had many friends in this city, and his funeral was largely attended. A number of musicians went out to the cemetery and played several selections over his grave. The funeral oration was delivered by a friend of the deceased.

Charley Lee Kong, the Chinese high-binder who attempted to assassinate De-tective Auble Thursday night, is still at the city prison, although last evening it looked as if the murderous ruffian would have to be released, owing to the technicalities of the law, as it is cl imed by the District Attor-ney's office that there is no law which will cover the case, for the reason that it is alleged that the Chinaman did not shoet at the officer. At any rate, the case is a peculiar one, and to properly understand it, some expianation is necessary. To begin, it should be stated that Charley Lee Kong has one of the most persistent violators of the lottery law in Chinatown. He has been arrested six times for seiling lottery tickets one of the most persistent violators of the lottery law in Chicatown. He has been arrested six times for selling lottery tickets since the first of the year, and in each case was convicted. The fines in the first three cases was convicted. The fines in the first three cases aggregated $95, which were paid, the heathen promised to discontinue the business, but was soon eaught again three times in succession, in each case being convicted, and was fined in the aggregate $290. These cases were appealed to the Superior Court, where they are still pending.

Kong has made all sorts of promises about quitting the business, but nevertheless kept right on selling the tickets. The police authorities knew this, but the fellow was too fory to be caught. Finally Detective Auble received orders to break up the business, if such a thing was possible, and made his arrangements accordingly. Early Thursday morains the detective went to Kong's place, and climbing up on the roof, and found that he could get a better view through so that it could be used later in the day. Returning in the evening, Auble climbed up on the roof, and found that he could get a better view through some cracks of what was going on in the room than through the hole, and consequently did not use it. Kong, who had evidently been told about what the officer had been doing during the day, which was afterward found to be a fact, was on his guard. The detective saw him in the act of sorting over his tickets, when he suddenly put them out of sight, and jumping on a table, drew a big revolver, and fired at a point just far enough from the peep-hole for the builet to have gone through the officer's breast, if he had been where he supposed he was. As soon as he fired the shot the Chinaman ran out of the door, and welld have made his escape, but for Officer Johnson, who called the heathen and took him to the police station.

The programme was a varied one consisting of vocal and instrumental music, elocution, whistling and Indian club swinging. This last was really the finest part of the performance, Frank Hart handling the clubs with an ease and grace that was simply marvelous. The polished, nickelpiated clubs in the hands of the skiliful athlete made such rapid and entirely noiseless revolutions as to win the admiration and applause of every one. A HARVARD GFADUATE.

E. R. Kellam, who graduated from Harvard College with high honors in the class of 1890, has returned to his home in this city. While in college Mr. Kellam was very popular as a society and fraternity man, and during his junior and senior years was manager of the Harvard musical organizations which gave concerts in all the principal eastern cities—the Pierian Sodality being the oldest musical organization in America. Mr. Kellam took an active interest in all college affairs, and was a well-known editor on the Harvard Lampoon, the only successful illustrated college paper—tife being its offspring, as both papers were started by Atwood.

Since leaving college Mr. Kellam has appent some time in travel, and has also didirected his attention to literary and social pursuits in Boston, where he was dramatic critic on one of the best known society papagers there. He has also written on social qustions, especially the charity problem.

THE COURTS.

TWO DECISIONS RECEIVED FROM THE SUPREME COURT.

sioner Van Dyke-The Itata Case-The Attorneys Want a Change.

Two decisions were received for filing in this city by Deputy Clerk Ashmore of the Supreme Court yesterday.

In the case of Charlotte Howell, respon the judgment of the lower court was af firmed. This was an action to recover damages for an alleged trespass, and the plaintiff was awarded judgment for $1000, where-upon defendants appealed on the ground that this verdict was unsupported by the

In the case of G. H. Peck and John C. Hannon, appellants, vs. the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, the or-der of the lower court was affirmed. This action was brought to obtain a writ of mandate compelling the Supervisors to put a road in condition for public travel. A de-murrer was entered and the petit ion dis-missed. The Supreme Court holds that this missed. The Supreme Court holds that this demurrer was properly sustained, for that the obstructed road may have been abandoned. It was not stated in the petition that the attention of the road overseer had ever been called to the condition of the road, and it was their duty to attend to it, and the law only allows the issue of mandates to compel the performance of a plain duty. Here the duty was on the road overseer, not on the Supervisors.

BEFORE COMMISSIONER VAN DYKE.
United States Commissioner Van Dyke

United States Commissioner Van Dyke held three preliminary examinations yes-terday, the defendant in each case being held to answer to the charge preferred held to answer to the charge preferred against him.

Alonzo Coons, charged with having sent prohibited matter, to-wit: a list of the drawings of the Louisiana lottery, through the mail, from Bakersfield, in May last, was held under bonds in the sum of $500.

Norman Meirose, charged with having mailed a letter at Acton upon the envelope of which were written the libelious words "Defaulting County Clerk," met with the same fate.

"Defaulting County Clerk," met with the same fate.

The third case was that against Delmer E. Crane, who is charged with having mailed a postal card addressed to C. S. Stephens at Stockton, on which certain libelious words, "dishonest, don't pay your debts, etc," were written. He also was held to answer under bonds in the sum of $250.

THE ITATA CASE. It was currently rumored yesterday that the attorneys in the Itata case are seeking to secure a removal of the case to San Fran isco to be tried, and that they have asked the permsssion of District Attorney Cole to this end, but it has been refused. It is not to this end, but it has been refused. It is not thought the effort will succeed, as there appears to be no precedent for the removal of a case from one district to another in United States Courts, though it is quite common for other district judges to come into districts to try cases where the regular judge is disqualified. A trial of the case in San Francisce would not be in the district having jurisdiction of the case, and if verdict was rendered against the ship there might, in that case, be seme technicalities about executing the orders.

The Chicago Singer Machine has a very important improvement in a Loose Baianes heel so constructed as to permit winding bobbins without removing the work from the Wheel, so constructed as to permit winding bobbins without removing the work from the machine.

The Loose Balance Wheel is actuated by a solid bolt passing through a collar securely pinned to the shaft outside of the ablance wheel, which bolt is firmly held to position by a strong spiral spring. When a bobbin is to be wound, the bolt is pulled out far enough to release the balance wheel, and turned slightly, to the right or left, where it is held by a stop-pin until the bobbin is filled. Where the machine is liable to be meddled with we children, the bolt can be left out of the wheel when not in use, so that the machine can not be operated by the treading

Tradition states that a little ten-year-old girl was heard praying in one of the wagons for water. It states that in her child-like faith she said:

The gaunt, have-starved desperate a slight depression near the wagons, and on investigating the cause they

New York has at length been forced by the growing magnitude of its street traffic to consider seriously the question of an underground railroad for Broadway, and a plan has been proposed for a four-track road to cost $35. 000,000. London has had such a road for a quarter of a century and would not know how to get along without it.

THE Pope, in a published letter to Cardinal Gibbons, condemns the suggestions of Herr Cahensley and the Si Raphael societies in regard to appointing Roman Catholic bishops in the United States of the same nationality as the people to whose spiritual wants they administer. As previously remarked, the Pope is wiser than some of his advisers.

A RECENT statement published by the Census-Office shows that there are in the United States 2,491,930 farms and homes occupied by owners which are encumbered by mortgages, leaving about 10,250,000 families that occupy farms and homes either hired or owned free. But as a majority of these latter are certainly renters, it may be considered that at least half the homes in the country are incumbered.

It will be noticed that the Southern States show up particularly well, all of those where there has been a marked proportionate increase of enrollment belonging to the southern tier, with exception of the Dakotas in the Northwest, and Texas, New Mexico and Arizona in the Southwest.

The schoolmaster has evidently been abroad in the South. The greatest proportionate increase is shown by New Mexico, and it is a truly remark able one, being ten times as large as the increase of population. Among the States which have fallen far short of keeping up in school attendance with their increase of population are the following:

States.	Gain	Gain enrollment.
Connecticut	19.84	6.69

New Jersey	27.74	14.05

These prominent States show a sad falling off. Perhaps the large amount of foreign immigration which they have received during the past ten years may be partly responsible. There are four States which show an absolute falling off in enrollment, in spite of a moderate increase in population. They аге:

Nevada shows a falling off in population of 26.51 and a falling off in enrollment of 17.17. The Pacific Coast States are all a little behind the increase of population, although not far. California has increased its enrollment 37.33 against an increased ONE hundred and forty people are population of 39.72; Oregon 69.23 against 79.53 and Washington 275.05 against 35.13. In the latter instance some excess may readily be made for inability to keep up with the recent marvelous growth of population. The above figures teach some important truths. They show that some of our older and wealthier States must ook to their schools or they will fall cases from six to seven times as many being of the gentler sex. The numerical relation in California is one male teacher to 3.7 female.

There are about 150,000 public night schools in the United States. In this department California ranks high, beng eighth on the list, with 4000 night schools, New York coming first with 41,000, and Massachusetts second with 24,820.

THE Chilean Congressional party eclares that the election of Vicuna as President of Chile is null and void because as president of the cabinet he organized a coup d' etat in January last, thus violating the constitution because the election was not carried out in conformation with the law relating to elections; because only part of the country voted, and because the election occurred during the suspen sion of the tribunals charged with the settlement of electoral disputes. The Chilean question appears to be almost as badly unsolved as was that of Schles wig-Holstein, which even the diplomats were unable to understand. The captain of the Montserrat tells a Chronicle reporter that the insurgents derive an income of $1,500,000 a month from the nitrate mines. A Charleston off. cer told a Los Angeles reporter that the mines were unproductive and that the insurgents were "busted."

This is about all that our great and good Republic has done for the development of one of the most fertile rivers on the face of the earth; following right along in the footsteps of the lying Spaniard; quite as impractical and far less original and romantic.

Let us come to the rescue of an honestly inquiring world and tell something of the resources of this great water-shed of the semi-tropical Southwest. Evidently the time has arrived when after long and weary centuries of waiting we can begin to look upon the Colorado River through and over all this romance and magnificence and pictures waith some

A table is given in the report showing the numerical relation of male to female teachers in the various States. This shows great differences. In some States there are two male teachers to one female, but, as a rule, there are more female than male teachers; in some self read in the library of Mexico. And in this region makes up a very impor-tant fact in the testimony of the case, which I should like to present to the world in this brief paper. Let this. world in this brief paper. Let this, then, be well settled in your miudithese ruins of Arizona, or "Arizuna," as the Spaniards called this region of the Gila and Colorado, are old, older than history—as old maybe as the coldest ruins on the Nile of Egypt. This region then was once densely peopled. No allurements of gold, no lust of conquest, nothing at all but the generous soil and the genial climate built up a city here; many cities, indeed, up and down the land, that must have rivaled in splen. land, that must have rivaled in splendor and extent the storied cities of the Wile of old. If then the simple, primitive and half-civilized people of the dead past made a garden of this land where the world has always insisted or the people themselves.

The first bananas I ever saw I saw then called Colorado and afterward with some Mexicans who were engaged in driving horses to Northern California, and they bought large bunches from the Indians. Now it is just possible that this fruit had been grown in Mexico, or about the mouth of the Colorado, and had been brought up the river in boats; but my recollection is that it was grown right there where got it. I remember, at least, that we had bananas until we reached San Bernardino. This was more than thirty years ago. And why, you ask, has this region not been converted into a garden and prepared so as to with some Mexicans who were engaged up the river in boats; but my recollection is that it was grown right there where got it. I remember, at least, that we had bananas until we reached San Bernardino. This was more than thirty years ago. And why, you ask, has this region not been converted into a garden and prepared so as to furnish our people with this fruit? Simply because we have been seeking for gold, listening to tales about Indians, and looking away up at the wonders of the Grand Cañon. We have not been able in all these years to get our faces bent down to the soil of Colorado.

Looking back to those early days I few lazy and lousy asses, one-eyed Arabs in very short shirts, a few lonely and leaning palms swaying in the sandy wind, that is the prospect as you are dragged up the drowsy Nile of Egypt. I have not steamed up and down the Colorado, or the North American Nile, from the Sea of Cortez or Guif of California to the Grand Canon as many have, but I have traveled on horseback a portion of that distance, and as a traveler whose trade is the study and comparison of lands, I unhesitatingly testify that the air, the outlook, the sense of a vital soil, that spice of possibilities, which you clearly feel yet but feebly express, is altogether with this great tawny river of the New World, the Colorado. As for the fertility of the soil-sand, if you prefer to call it sand, of the Colorado let there be no two opinions. The let there be no two opinions. The river was not born in the Grand Cañon by a great deal. It drains many lands. The sublime slopes of the Rocky Moun-tains feed the Colorado with their fertility the whole year through. Perpetual snow and perpetual sun contribute year in and year out their riches to the nourishment of the Colorado and its alluvial banks. Look at your map and trace the meandering tributaries that are interlaced with the waters of the Columbia and the Missouri in the heart of the Rocky Moun souri in the heart of the Rocky Mountains. The very sands of a river so supplied must be as rich as gold. And, lest you may have some doubts about the fertility of these sand-dunes that lie along and a little back from the river's bank, permit me to call your attention to the shifting, drifting and blowing banks of sand that once lay between "Seal Rocks" and San Francisco. These sands have been washed down in the long centuries from the Sierras through the Sacramento River. They seemed to be as barren as snow-EDITORIALS on current subjects. seemed to be as barren as snow-banks. They were as migratory as gypsies, and moved up and down the land with all the exasperat-Puritan maiden, reported that the bed of the river lay so deep in its banks that he could see the stars while reposing on its bosom at mid-day. What wonder that the world has never yet quite got ready to look down at the soil, with these stars to be gazed at above at mid-day?

On the walls of our National Capitol there are hanging today two broad and sublime pictures of "The Grand Cañon." The world at Washington looks upon these striking pictures, and these are all it sees; these are all the

And then, as I said before, the room of it! the space! the possibilities ahead of you, if you only have enough of these gray old Colorado sand-dunes in hand! And then, outside of that, and above all, the climate! The fact that you surely have 365 days in a year for things to grow and ripen in! Three hundred and sixty-five days in the year when you can waik, hat in hand, under the shade of your palm trees. I assert that the same thing can be done with every sand-dune within reach of the waters of the Colorado River or the Gila either. Ay, more; much more. As for the third great attraction, or letraction—the Indians—they are no onger either picturesque enough or session of a little land—and watch the session of a little land—and watch the development that must be born of these facts. With all the Northern States waiting for a better quality of tropical and semi-tropical fruits, waiting for something better than wild fruits gathered by half-wild people and shipped to them in a green and half-rotten condition, and with suc soil, water—what may we not expect with this vantage-ground before us from the banks of the North American Nite?

and over all this romance and magnifi-cence and picturesqueness with some-thing like precision.

In the first place, then, there is a great deal to be seen in the region of the Grand Cañon beside ruin and sand the few, and my time is not my own in this work. But I will say this much right here: Settle on these warm, healthful and responsive sand-dunes of the Colorado or Gila, and lead the waters over your hand. There is no maiaris there. A sunstroke was never heard of there. You can work all day self read in the library of Mexico. WASHINGTON, July 31.—[By the Associated Press.] The Spanish reciprocity treaty and the diplomatic correspondence pertaining thereto were made public today, the President issuing a proclamation aunouncing the full text of the treaty. It was made pursuant to the last Tariff Act with a view to securing reciprocal trade by reason of the exemption from duty of sugar, molasses, coffee and hides upon their importation into the United States.

Under the terms of the treaty the following articles manufactured in the United States and included in what is termed a transitory schedule will be admitted into Cuba and Porto Ricc free after September 1 next. The boy chews tobacco, smokes cigarettes, drinks whisky and beer and swears like a pirate. The soldiers and cowboys are fast educat-ing him into every sort of depravity, while the Indians on the reservation while the Indians on the reservation look on and say it is well, for "he will stay with the white man and learn his cunning and then when he is old enough he will come back to us and be our chief."

A tayorite sport of the cowboys is to get him into a saloon on Sunday, make him crazy drunk and then tease him into a frenzy. When he is in this condition he is as ugly as it is possible for a human being to be. He will curse and fight like the little savage that he is. His Indian nature shows itself here for he will fight only in a sneaking manner and will attack his enemy when he thinks he is off his Doubtful is the name given the boy from the canon where he was found, and he is growing up in a semi-civilized way that promises to make plenty of trouble for the whites some day in the future. His principle delight now is to catch dogs and cats and corture them while he sits and laughs at their cries of pain. He has attempted the same tactics on children but has been so severely whipped for it that he now foregoes that pleasure.

London, July 31.—[By Cable and Associated Iress.] The House of Lords, sitting as a committee on privileges, totay decided the remarkable and historical Berkely peerage claim. The Louse decided that Ran-dal Mowbray Thomas Berkely has established his claim to the honors and dignities of Earl of Berkely and Viscount Dursley. The claimant alleged that the male legitimate issue of the fifth Earl of Berkely, who died in 1810, is extinct; that he being the eldest male heir of the fourth Earl, is entitled to the peerage in question. Opposed to this claim was the claim of Francis William Fitzharding E. Berkely. WASHINGTON, July 31.—The Chilean Minister received the following telegram from Lisbon this morning:

This morning at 5 o'clock the Presidente Errazuriz well manned, coaled and provisioned, left Lisbon for Chile. The intrigues and false reports of the insurgents have not been able to prevent her. The cruiser has 200 Chilean sailors on board, and a few European volunteers. She will stop at a port on the Atlantic, where the rest of the crew awaits the cruiser's arrival.

Another dispatch received by the legation from Paris says that the cruiser Presidente Pinto, which stranded at Toulon, righted again without having suffered injury. The cruiser will get ready to leave Toulon immediately to complete preparations and continue the voyage to Chile at once. The Chilean government sent a complete crew of fine sailors to meet the cruiser, with which she will continue the voyage to the Pacific.

How Canaries Bund a Nest. Many of us some time in our lives have taken an old bird's nest in our hands and admired the wonderful structure, the neatness and care with which the inside has been finished, whether it be the nest of a thrush, so carefully lined with manure and smoothed off with the art of a well taught modeler, maybe the lovely lining which we find in a robin's nest or some of the finches But we have few actual chances of see ing these miniature homes put together, ess they are built in captivity, under which circumstances the art of nest building becomes most interesting to a careful watcher. Let us take, for instance, canaries. A pair of these birds in their second sea-son's building—by which time they have perfected thoroughly the art, supposing they are supplied with a suitable box and materials for the purpose-commence first of all by filling the box with the rougher pieces of moss, after which the into the middle of it, and sitting down begins to turn round and round; by this process the inside of the nest is formed. If they find it not full enough, more moss is brought and the process repeated until it is to the satisfaction of the house

After this the delicate part of lining he nest is commenced, the hen sitting in the nest while the cock supplies her with hair, which he first prepares in the following manner: After picking up a small bunch of hair, which he holds across the middle, he flies upon the perch and knocks it from side to side gainst the perch, to shake all loose eces out; after which he holds the or bunch of hair on the perch with foot, at the same time drawing his eak up it with a twisting motion.

This is repeated until it becomes somewhat woven together, and is then pre-ented to the hen, which she carefully sented to the nen, which she can piece takes and places in the moss, one piece after another, until a smooth lining is alt. At this point she allows he to enter the nest, which they the both in turns, with a great deal of excitement and soft twittering, continually turning round and round to finish it off in a workmanlike manner.— A CASE IN POINT.

The Sheridan Road Shows That Intelligent Effort Can Improve Highways.

The people who claim that road improvement in the rural regions is not practical nor possible will find a factnot an argument-which refutes their claims in the Sheridan road, running from Chicago to Waukegan, Wis. This, the most magnificent highway in the United States, is the outgrowth of the intelligent efforts of a few men, and it proves once more, what advocates of good oads all claim, that road improvement, instead of imposing an additional expense on the people, will so enhance land values as to doubly repay the amount expended

Thirty-seven miles of continuous paved road, passing through ten or twelve towns and lying within two counties, would be something remarkable, even in the earliest settled portions of the United States. That the greater portion of such a road already exists, with a prospect of its early completion to the extent indicated and the possibility of its ulticonnecting at the south with the lake shore drive that is a part of the magdistance of twenty-two miles, and will doubtless be completed to Waukegan, twelve miles further on, by the time the World's fair is opened to visitors This, with the lake shore drive three miles in length, will make thirty-seven miles of continuous paved road.

The Sheridan road is distinctively a carriage drive, and is dedicated by the various towns through which it passes for that purpose. For the main part the roadway is fifty feet in width, but at points it is eighty and for one stretch of a mile one hundred feet wide.

The material of which the road is constructed varies according to circumstances. In Evanston, which is the most populous of the towns traversed by the road, for example, there is a mile or more of well made asphaltum road, extending from the university campus to South payement has been laid, and in other nacadam constitutes the material. Bu between villages-and in some case through them-the road is constructed more cheaply. A layer of blue clay, fou inches thick, is spread upon the sand or sandy loam, which are the prevalent soils of the lake shore strip, and well rolled upon this two inches of lake gravel i thoroughly rolled, while over all is sprea and rolled two inches more of finer lak gravel. The cost of such a road as this fifty feet wide, is about $1.50 a linea foot. Lake gravel is found to be mor satisfactory than bank gravel.

One peculiarity about this great carriage road is that it is primarily the outcome of the efforts of a number of gentlemen of Chicago and Evanston, who in the fall of 1888 organized the Sheridan Road association, without capital, but merely as a base from which to operate in an effective manner upon town and and village governments and individual property owners. The first plan looked no further than the connecting of Chicago and Fort Sheridan, in the town of Highland Park, but the success of the project and the benefits to real estate that have accrued have been so great that it was soon decided to extend the road to the city of Waukegan, while there are those who look confidently to its being ultimately carried on to Keokuk.

Racine and Milwaukee. The advantages of such a drive to holders of suburban tracts were pointed out until the land owners were persuaded to contribute to the cost of roadways and bridges where the expense was greater than the official boards were willing to assume. The result has justified all the representations made by the association members. Subdivisions for residence purposes have been made more numerously and at a greater distance from Chicago than had ever been dreamed of. Hamlets with electric lights for streets and houses and with water and sewerage stems all comp lete have been created as the result of this enterprise, entered upon in the first place and with the sole object of securing a carriage road practicable in wet weather as well as in the of the Sheridan Road association has been prosecuted, it is interesting to cite that portion of the road that passes through Calvary cemetery. The archbishop generously vacated to the road a strip 1.500 feet in length and 100 feet in width across the east end of the cemetery. The grading of the strip involved the remova of 17,000 cubic yards of material, the expense being $2,000. This sum, and the ad ditional amount of $1,400 for graveling, were contributed by private citizens of Evanston and Chicago, who subscribed $100 each to the object.

It was inevitable that in the carrying out of this scheme there should be obstructionists found. Narrow cupidity of individuals has been the main obstacl the Sheridan Road association has had to contend with. A very few property owners have, instead of meeting the as sociation in its own spirit, sought to extort unreasonable sums for the condem nation of strips needed to connect two bits of road. Litigation with people of this sort has delayed the completion of the road at one or two points, but has not seriously hampered the work. In one in seriously hampered the work. In one instance where it was sought to levy this species of blackmail the obstructionist was punished summarily by the adoption of another route that left his property far off from the road and deprived him of the enhancement of value that at the outset would have trebly recompensed him had he given that desired strip outright. The Sheridan road, even as it is today, is a wonderful testimony to what can be accomplished by the united, intelligently directed efforts of a few men. As it will be two years hence, it is doubtful if there is anything in the United States in the way of a carriage road equal to it. The United Order of the Golden Cross.

This order was founded by Dr. Morgan in 1875 in Knoxville, Tenn., and has now over 18,000 members. It is a secret fraternal order, something on the plan of the Knights of Pythias or Knights of Honor, with this difference that each member is required to totally abstain from intoxicating liquor. The order is coming into prominence in this section of the country. Maine and Massachusetts have about 5,000 members each, and the growth in the whole country is about 400 per month. The order is a valuable adjunct to the cause of temperance, and gives its members a safe life insurance at lower rates than organic ons where other than total abstainers as admitted. The ritual of the order is largely taken from the Bible. The United Order of the Golden Cross

New honey continues to come into the market rather slowly. Small lots of amber and comb are received daily but no large shipments have been made yet. Dealers seem rather doubtful as to the outlook for the market. The crop is certainly light in this part of the State, but it is believed that in other sections the yield will be nearly or quite up to the average.

NEW YORK, July 31.—The stock market today again opened moderately active. The pressure brought to bear especially upon Rock Island and Northern Pacific preferred not only caused both stocks to decline materially but the rest of the list was dragged down to about the level of last, night's figures. But the downward movement was checked before noon, and after that time decided strength was shown in all parts of the list, all stocks rising over 1 per cent., with the industrials leading. Chicago Gas went up 2½ per cent. The market finally closed dull but steady at about the highest figures of the day. The final changes were quite irregular, the majority being advances.

They have a new scheme, at Pasadena. I was in a restaurant there the other day, and sat at a table with a fellow who kept asking the waiter for different things until finally he asked for and obtained a bottle of Worcestershire sauce. When he got up from the table I thought I would have some of the sauce myself, and poured out a dose. It smelled peculiar, so I tasted it at once, and I'll be hanged if the bottle wasn't full of whisky." It is incumbent upon our restaurant proprietors to rise up to a man and deny this serious allegation, or else keep the Worcestershire bottles out of the hands of strangers.

THE NEXT OPERA. The next opera to be presented by the Pasadena Conservatory of Music the Pasadena Conservatory of Music will be the Mascot. The first reheares! was held Thursday evening. The large attendance and the enthusiasm manifested by principals and chorus in the work are sufficient to insure a successful presentation of this witty and tuneful opera. The cast of characters is at present arranged thus: "Bettina, the Mascott," Mrs. Clapp; "Fiametta," Miss Peck; "Pippo." O. Stewart Taylor: "Rocco," J. Logey; "Frederick," A. S. Cates; "Prafante," "George Frost; "Matteo," H. E. Pratt; "Lorenz XVII," O. W. Kyle.

Numerous local gags will be introduced, and the stage settings and costumes will be especially elaborate. The opera will be presented early in the fall.

The Kern County Echo has the following on the trip which Waiter Richardson and Frank Long are tak-Richardson and Frank Long are taking: "A couple of bright boys went through Bakersfield Monday evening on their way to Yosemite Valley. They were afoot, and their outfit consisted of a hurro, camp tricks, guns, etc. They had traveled from their homes in Pasadena, and expected to walk to the valley and back home again—a total distance of about seven hundred miles. They were in good spirits and were making about twenty miles a day. These young chaps show enterprise, and will be benefited in many ways by the trip. We dare say they will enter school next fall in better trim than if they had spent the summer loafing around some town."

It is a fact not generally known that President W. C. Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific Railway recently renounce his allegiance to the United States of America and promised to become a loyal subject of Victoria, Queen of Great Brit-ain and Empress of India. Mr. Van Horne was moved to do this because an alien can not hold the position of president of the Canadian Pacific roads and steamship lines, which, by special proclamation, were some time ago declared to be an "imperial highway" of the kingdom of Great Britain and the empire of India. This entitles the company to a small subsidy annually from the English government, in return for which, in case of war, the government may seize the railway without no tice for the transportation of troops and stores or its needs in any particular, of course paying for its use. It is whispered around among the knowing ones that Mr Van Horne will, at an early date, be elevated to a baronetey. The Canadian Pacific clique is practically the Canadian do miniou government and Mr. Van Horne was the control of the minion government and Mr. Van Horne has won his way into a strong position in this combination, says the Chicago Herald, albeit it is less than ten years since he resigned the position of general superintenent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul to accept the general managership of the Canadian Pacific, which, at that time, was principally described by the expression "under constructiod."

It was briefly announced yesterday that a freight wreck occurred up the road which served to hold the San Franciaco train here several hours. The accident occurred up in the casion and was an expensive one though no one was injured. A car of oil in the wreck became ignited and made a big fire which could not be quenched by any means at hand and was suffered to burn itself out.

A TEST CASE DECIDED. A Suit Growing out of M. D. Hamil-ton's Affair. 1San Diego Union.

All are familiar with the M. D. Hamilton affair, in which Mr. Hamil-Hamilton afrair, in which Mr. Hamilton was found guilty of appropriating to his own use funds intrusted to him while acting as County Clerk. Some days since J. E. Wadham presented a document in a case for which he was attorney to County Clerk W. M. Gassaway for filing. Mr. Gassaway for filing. Mr. Gassaway demanded the usual fee for filing such documents which was refused by Mr. H. Morris of San Francisco registered documents, which was refused by Mr. Wadham. The County Clerk said there Wadham. The County Clerk said there was no money to the credit of the case, while Mr. Wadham claimed to have made a $10 deposit with Mr. Hamilton, which had not been earned by the county. Mr. Gassaway declared he knew nothing about that; that he had never received any money from Mr. Hamilton on account of the case, and therefore demanded the usual deposit. To settle what might have been an interminable dispute between the attorney and County Clerk. Mr. Wadham began suit against Clerk Gassaway, petitioning the court to mandamus Gassaway to file the document in question.

Judge Pierce rendered his decision yesterday in the case, which was to the effect that the present County Clerk had a right to demand fees in Clerk had a right to demand fees in the case in question; that earned fees belonged to the county, the unearned fees, though being public moneys, were returnable to the parties to the case and did not belong to the county. Therefore, the fact that Mr. Hamilton had failed to turn over the unearned fees did not effect Clerk Gassaway.

At Crawford, Ga., a few days ago a traveler went to the depot and put down $5 and asked the agent, Mr. Little, for a ticket to Athens. Mr. Little told the traveler that the ticket was worth 51 cents and that he had no change. The traveler went away and soon returned and produced the $5, stating that he could not get the change. Mr. Little took down a bag and began to count out 449 coppers to make the traveler's change. He looked at Mr. Little and asked if that change was for him, and upon receiving an afwas for him, and upon receiving an af-firmative answer drew out his purse and put down 51 cents and said he did not want the coppers.

The Residence of Maj. Kimball Destroyed by Fire.
At 1:30 this morning the fine residence of Maj. Kimball, on the corner of Belmont avenue and West First street, was destroyed by fire. The alarm was turned in from box 56 and the department was on hand in time to save the place, but as usual there was no rater and nothing could be done.

The family was away from home at the time, and it is not known how the fire started. The house was a fine two-story frame, and house and furniture were valued at about $8000, fully insured. Every fire that has occurred in this section of the city of late has proved disastrous on account of a lack of water.

The reason why eggs are hard to keep is because when they remain long in one position the yolks settle down against the shell, and if there is evaporation of the fluids the yolks adhere. The object when preserving, therefore, is to seal up the pores, which may be done with tallow, wax, or any kind of grease, gum or substance that closes the pores. In fact, there are many different kinds of methods of keeping eggs. The great point in the matter, however, is to turn the eggs two or three times a week, which may be done easily if packed in a box, by turning

They Played with Soaped Balls.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.1)

Two rustic gentlemen furnished considerable amusement for the New York Glants at the Monongahela House last evening. Both were slightly intoxicated, and some of the boys got them to play a game of billiards. Before the game started one in the crowd soaped the balls, and any-body who has played under such conditions knows how difficult it is to make a shot. The two played away for an hour and thirty-five minutes before the game was over, and without for an hour and thirty-five minutes before the game was over, and without discovering the trick. The ball-players and a large crowd gathered around the table and cheered every good shot made by the captain, as they called the oldest. They got a good deal of quiet sport out of the pair.

They kicked on the charge of 80 cents, the captain remarking that he

Pure Blood

Is absolutely necessary in order to have perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier, quickly conquering scrofula, sait rheum, and all other institious enemies which attack the blood and undermine the health. It also builds up the whole system, cures dyspepsia and sick headache, and overcomes that tired feeling.

"My adopted boy, aged 14 years, suffered terribly from scrofula sores on his leg, which spread bly from scroula sores on his leg, which spread till they at one time formed one great sore from the calf of his leg up to his thigh, partially covered with scab, and discharging matter continually. The muscles became contracted so that his leg was drawn up and he could hardly walk. We tried everything we could hear of, without success, until we began giving him Hood's Sarasparilla. In just a month, after he had taken two-thirds of a bottle, the sores entirely healed, his leg is perfectly straight, and he
